The Autism 'Crash Course' for Parents

Following the diagnosis of Autism Spectrum Disorder, parents often begin a desperate search for information and answers. The range of services and interventions can be overwhelming.

This full-day course has been designed to help parents follow up a new diagnosis with a timely, comprehensive and interactive source of reliable information.

Parents will learn:

- How ASD impacts their child's development, learning and behaviour
- Information about services, supports and entitlements
- Information about evidence-based interventions for ASD
- Simple strategies to implement at home to make everyday routines easier
- The importance of taking care of all family members, ensuring a strong family unit

About the presenter: Kirsty Kerr is a psychologist with ten years experience working with children with Autism Spectrum Disorder across early intervention, early childhood services & specialist primary schools.
